

Center for Domestic Preparedness
11th Annual Tribal Nations Training Week
September 12 - 19, 2026

STRENGTHENING INDIGINEOUS READINESS HONORING SOVEREIGNTY AND ACHIEVING RESILIENCE THROUGH AN ALL-HAZARDS APPROACH

Hazardous Materials Operations

Tribal Nation training strengthens Tribal Nations' ability to protect their communities and environment from chemical threats. By developing local expertise in hazmat response, Tribal Nations can ensure faster, safer incident management, reduce risks to health and property, and enhance overall community resilience.

Hazardous Materials Operations Training:

This hands-on course provides participants with the skills and knowledge needed to respond safely and effectively to hazardous materials incidents. Training covers personal protective equipment, spill control, decontamination procedures, and incident command system protocols. Through practical exercises, participants learn to manage and mitigate hazmat emergencies in accordance with national standards.

The Pro-Board Exam will be available for national certification with a fee.

Chemical Ordinance Biological Radiological (COBRA) Training Facility Entry

This training facility supports the only training in the country that trains first responders in a true hazardous environment. The participants will train to become confident in actions involving PPE and hazardous materials. This is the first offering during Tribal Nations Training Week!
